Currency Reform Bill

Would Keep Congress Here Until Fall, Report

If there is a real attempt to pass currency bill at this session, Congress will be here until September of October, in the opinion of most Senators and members of the House. Senators do not expect as a rule to get through the tariff bill until well along in July. Some say it will be August. If, on top of the tariff there comes a lon- currency debate, it will carry the Congress session into the fall. One of the reasons why many at the Capitol think there will be no legislation on currency this session is that the Sen-ate will wear itself out on tariff, and will not want to tackle currency.
